Will there be a new subway station in Lisbon?

These will be the first new subway stations in Lisbon since April 2016 when the Blue Line was extended from Amadora Este to Reboleira. While Lisbon Metro authorities awarded a EUR321.9 million contract for the Red Line extension in late 2023, the project has not yet broken any ground!

Will the Rubi line BE Porto's next big step forward?

The Rubi Line, awarded in late 2023 and funded by the PRR, is shaping up to be Porto's next big step forward. The line will stretch from Casa da Música to Santo Ovídeo and feature a brand-new metro bridge over the Douro River. Construction is now underway, and the project is on track for a Q1 2027 completion.

What's going on in Lisbon & Porto in 2025?

So what's going on? Here's a comprehensive update on the major infrastructure projects currently underway in Lisbon and Porto in 2025. Originally projected to open in October 2024, the much-anticipated Circular Line has run into delays but is still mostly on track.

When will Porto's Pink Line open?

This line will help alleviate pressure on Porto's most central metro hubs and allow for quicker east-west travel without requiring transfers. The final tunnel of the Pink Line project between Casa da Música and Galiza opened in August 2025 with this portion of the project currently expected to open in March-April 2026.
